

Is it any Body's Business!

Is it any body's business
If a gentleman should choose To call upon a lady,
Or, to speak a little plainer,
That the meaning all may know,
Is it any body's business
If a lady has a beau?

Is it any body's business
When that gentleman does call?
Or when he leaves the lady,
Or if he leaves at all?
Or is it necessary
That the curtain should be drawn,
To save from further trouble, The outside lookers on?

Is it any body's business
But the lady's if her beau Rides out with other ladies, And doesn't let her know?
Is it any body's business But that gentleman's, if she Should accept another escort Where he doesn't chance to be?

If a person on the sidewalk, Whether great or whether small,
Is it any body's business
Where that person means to call?
Or if you see a person,
As he's calling anywhere,
Is it any body's business
What his business may be there?

The substance of our query, Simply stated, would be this—
Is it any body's business What another's business is?
If it is, or if it isn't,
We should really like to know,
For we're certain if it isn't,
There are some who make it so.

If it is we'll join the rabble, And act the noble part Of the tattlers and defamers, Who through the public meet;
But if not, we'll act the teacher, Until each meddler learns It were better in the future To mind his own concerns.

JOHN RANDOLPH "HEADED"—Of the many amusing anecdotes of this eccentric man of Roanoke, we do not believe the following was ever in print.

He was traveling through a part of Virginia in which he was unacquainted; he stopped during the night at an inn near the forks of the road. The innkeeper was a fine gentleman, and no doubt of one of the first families in the Old Dominion. Knowing his distinguished guest was, he endeavored during the evening to draw him into conversation, but failed in all his efforts. But in the morning, when Mr. Randolph was ready to start, he called for his bill, which on being presented, was paid. The landlord, still anxious to have some conversation with him, began as follows:

"Which way are you traveling Mr.
Randolph?"

"Sir," said Mr. Randolph, with a look of displeasure. "Have I paid my bill."

"Yes."

"Do I owe you anything more?"

"No."

"Well, I'm going just where I please —do you understand?"

"Yes."

The landlord by this time got somewhat excited, and Mr. Randolph drove off.
But to the landlord's surprise, in a few minutes the servant came to inquire for his master which one of the forks of the road to take.

Mr. Randolph, not being out of hearing distance, the landlord spoke at the top of his voice: "Mr. Randolph, you don't owe me one cent; just take which road you please."

At a recent temperance festival in Maine, the President of the day gave the following toast:

The Cause of Temperance—May it progress until professional temperance people leave off drinking spirituous liquor.

Why was the prohibitory law so overwhelmingly defeated in Illinois?
Because the people of that State are all suckers.

"How are you, Mr. Brown?" "Ah, how is Green?" "Very well, and have you heard lately from Gray?" "Yes, White is just from Black," and says he is well."

"Glad to hear it," and the white men with colored names moved on, never mistrusting they had caused a son of Africa to split his sides 'wid luffin at dis mix in up ob paint pots."

A JUDGE PROSCRIBING—Judge Oakley does not joke every day. But shortly since a son of Erin who was afflicted with a disease to which Hanneemann traces almost every other, one day came into the presence beseeching his Honor to be excused from jury duty.

"But," says the Judge, "if all that ask are excused we shall have no juries at all."

"I know your Honor," said the applicant, with downcast head, while his finger nails were busy here and there and everywhere that he well practised digni-tious could reach, "I know—but mine is a peculiar case. I hate to say it Judge, but if I must, I must, I suppose, I've got the itch." "Here Mr. Maxwell," hastily interposed the Judge "scratch this juror out!"—N. Y. Times.

How TO DRESS A CALF'S HEAD.—An exchange paper furnishes the following recipe, doubtless having frequently tried it:

"Take your head and rub a thick lather all over the face; then wipe off with a sharp instrument, wipe well with a clean towel, and place pieces of stretched linen half way up the cheeks; lay the crown with any kind of grease; a few drops of oil may be an improvement—and your calf's head will be dressed up in the most approved style."

A Missouri editor announces that the publication of his paper will be suspended for six weeks, in order that he may visit St. Louis with a load of bearskins, hoop-poles, shingles, oak bark and pickled catfish, which he had taken on subscription.

To weep for fear is childish; to weep for anger is womanish; to weep for grief is human; to weep for compassion is divine, but to weep for sin is christian.

When a true genius appears in the world you may know him by this sign:— that the dunces are all in confederacy against him.

they are so fully convinced that it is to their

Great Bargains.
486 ACRES
OF Choice Land FOR SALE.
Ten miles south west of Plymouth, in the Oak Flats, Marshall county, Ind., are now offered for sale at a bargain, they are situated in the very heart of the country.

A 246 acre tract has 160 acres in a rich state of cultivation, with good and lasting stock water, a good bearing orchard of selected fruit, also a frame Dwelling House, and other out buildings. The balance of this tract is well timbered, and adjoining the improved part.

The 240 acre tract has 130 acres well improved, with the usual number of farm buildings, and a young orchard. The balance timbered, 80 acres of which is three miles north west of the improvements, and is heavily timbered.

Persons wishing to settle in Northern Indiana, will do well to call and see these Farms before making a selection. The country is fast settling with an industrious and thriving population, and the Railroads now being finished to the county seat, affording an outlet for produce and travel, render all the conveniences incident to a comfortable and valuable home complete in most essentials.

These farms are richly worth $25 per acre, one half of which we want cash in hand, and the balance in annual payments, with simple interest. For further particulars, inquire of Wm. C. Edwards or G. P. Cherry in the Hotels in Plymouth, or to Isaac Dreese on the premises.

To the Citizens of Plymouth,

Important Announcement!
DR. T. A. LEMON, Would respectfully inform the public that he has secured the agency of Professor James McClintock's Celebrated Family Medicine, and has just received a full supply which he is prepared to furnish, wholesale or retail at the Proprietor's prices.

Dr. McClintock's fame as an eminent physician needs no comments from me. His medicines are the prescriptions adopted in his private practice, and as such are invaluable in all cases where it is inconvenient to call in a physician.
Their sale has been unprecedented in the Eastern and Northern States. They have effected thousands of cures, and no case of failure is yet recorded.

We would call attention at this season, first to Dr. McClintock's Pectoral Syrup for Bronchitis, Consumption, Hoarseness, Spitting of Blood and Severe Coughs. This good remedy is unparalleled for success in the above complaints. It purifies the blood of all serofulous taint, it heals ulceration, it destroys tubercles in the lungs, it regulates the bowels, checks night sweats, and strengthens the stomach, stimulates the vital powers, and gives vigor to the whole system; it quiets nervous excitement, relieves pain in the chest, soothes the cough, promotes expectora-tion, and at the same time affords a delicate nourishment. It contains no opium in any form and agrees perfectly with the most delicate patient.

Dr. McClintock's Cold and Cough Mixture—Colds and coughs, especially if accompanied by fever or inflammatory excitement, require a remedy different in character from the Pectoral Syrup, which is so valuable in chronic complaints. The Cold and Cough Mixture is precisely the cure for such recent coughs, colds and irritation of the throat and lungs. It is especially valuable for children, no family in our changeable climate, should be without this effectual remedy, which, if taken on the first symptoms of cold, will prevent many an attack of Bronchitis, and a fatal issue in Consumption.
No Laxative or preparation of Opium, in any shape, in this Syrup. Price, per bottle 25 cents.

Dr. McClintock's Tonic Mixture, for Fever and Ague—The greatest specific for this fearful disease ever used. It never fails to break the fever, and restore the patient to blooming health. One bottle will effect a cure, and a second will prevent its return even in cases of the longest standing. It is effected thousands of cures when all other remedies have failed. It contains no arsenic, mercury or other injurious drugs, but is purely vegetable, and instead of injuring the constitution it builds up and gives tone and vigor to the whole system. Price $1
